Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre visits Australia in 1981

Excerpt from the newspaper article:

The visit of Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre, 76, suspended by Pope Paul VI in 1976 for his stand against the Second Vatican Council, has been ignored by the Adelaide Catholic Church officials. In Melbourne, Catholics had been warned not to go to his Masses. Archbishop Lefebvre rejects the "modern ways" of the church as too Protestant. ...

Archbishop Lefebvre said: "We must maintain our Christian lives in the true Catholic faith. After Vatican II you can see bad things in the church - you can see how many priests abandon the church. Future generations will thank you because you have maintained the Catholic faith and you gave this Catholic faith to your children."

Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre, our founder!

"Yes! The hour has come for the resistance of Catholics, without counting on the hierarchy which is betraying them everywhere.

History offers us beautiful examples: St. Genevieve, St. Joan of Arc, the Martyrs of the Revolution, and many others.

They died shouting, 'We want God!' Let us follow them."
